

AUTOCARTO 2010

GEOSPATIAL DATA AND GEOVISUALIZATION: ENVIRONMENT, SECURITY, AND SOCIETY

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

TOPICS

- Geospatial Modeling
- Web-based cartography
- Cartographic and Geospatial Ontologies
- Generalization
- Data Integration
- The Geospatial Semantic Web
- Interactive Mapping
- Mobile Mapping and GIS, Location-based Services, and Ubiquitous Mapping
- Geospatial Open Source, Interoperability, and Source Integration
- Mapping Mashups, Google Earth, Virtual Earth, GeoBrowsers, and Geospatial Internet Search
- Spatio-temporal GIS and Dynamic Maps
- The National Map, Geospatial One Stop, CEGIS, and other U.S. Federal Initiatives
- National and Regional Paper and Digital Atlases
- Geospatial Data Models and Spatial Data Mining
- Map Use and Design
- Spatial Cognition and Spatialization
- Discrete Global Grids, Coordinate Systems for Geospatial Data, and Map Projections
- Volunteered Geographic Information and Crowd Sourcing

IMPORTANT DATES

May 1, 2010

Abstracts for papers and posters due

May 1, 2010

Workshop proposals due

June 15, 2010

Notice of acceptance of all proposals

August 15, 2010

Presenter registration due

September 13, 2010

Final papers due

ABSTRACTS

Abstracts for AutoCarto 2010 and ISPRS Commission IV, and workshop proposals should be submitted electronically using the form available at the conference web site, www.asprs.org/Orlando2010.

Abstracts may not exceed 300 words in length. They should include 3-5 keywords and contact information for the senior author and presenter.

If electronic submission using the web is not possible, abstracts and required information may be mailed to one of the co-chairs of the Technical Program of the ASPRS / CaGIS 2010 Specialty Conference:

Marguerite Madden, PhD

Center for Remote Sensing and Mapping Science
Department of Geography
The University of Georgia
Athens, Georgia 30602-2305
mmadden@uga.edu

or

E. Lynn User, PhD

Center of Excellence for Geospatial
Information Science
U.S. Geological Survey
1400 Independence Road
Rolla, MO 65401-2502
usery@usgs.gov

INSTRUCTIONS

We are anxious to compare the work being done and share expertise with our colleagues around the globe. We encourage abstract submissions from individuals in the U.S. as well as abroad. Paper and poster abstracts will both be considered. For further information, visit www.cartogis.org/autocarto.

www.cartogis.org/autocarto

Geospatial Data and Geovisualization: Environment, Security, and Society

ASPRS/CaGIS 2010 Specialty Conference

in conjunction with a special joint meeting of ISPRS Technical Commission IV and AutoCarto 2010

Orlando, Florida, USA November 15-19, 2010

Sponsored by

In Cooperation with

